Heart Strength

Heart Strength, or Heart Weakness, means Nerve Strength, or Nerve Weakness—nothing more. Positively, not one weak heart in a hundred is, in itself, actually diseased. It is almost always a hidden tiny little nerve that really is all at fault. This obscure nerve—the Cardiac, or Heart Nerve—simply needs, and must have, more power, more stability, more controlling, more governing strength. Without that the Heart must continue to fail, and the stomach and kidneys also have these same controlling nerves.

This clearly explains why, as a medicine, Dr. Shoop's Restorative has in the past done so much for weak and ailing Hearts. Dr. Shoop first sought the cause of all this painful, palpitating, suffocating heart distress. Dr. Shoop's Restorative—this popular prescription—is alone directed to these weak and wasting nerve centers. It builds; it strengthens; it offers real, genuine heart help.

If you would have strong Hearts, strong digestion, strengthen these nerves—re-establish them as needed, with

High Price.

The Lexington Gazette says that farmers in this part of the state are expecting to see corn go to the highest figure that it has reached in a number of years next spring. They say that it now seems certain that before next year's crop becomes available corn will have passed $4 a barrel, and perhaps have reached $5. The price of this staple and dependence of a large portion of Central Kentucky farmers is now $3.25 a barrel, and it is steadily climbing. A well known farmer who keeps a close eye on conditions and prospects and by so doing has made a remarkable success of his operations, said that those farmers who supplanted their tobacco crops with corn this year and escaped the direful effects of the prolonged drouth, will certainly strike it rich. He said: "There is no telling just now high corn is going to go, from the present outlook. The effect of the drouth upon the late crop has been very severe. And the bulk of this year's production was expected from the late corn. Continued rains in the early spring and summer prevented plowing and the planting of corn until very late for the year For a while it seemed that the early conditions would be offset by very favorable conditions during the middle of the summer seasons. There came plentiful rains, interspersed with bountiful sunshine, and all of the corn growers were feeling fine. However, the drouth came on about the time the corn was already to tassel and the resultant loss is hard to estimate as yet."

Tickling, tight coughs, can surely and quickly loosened with a prescription Druggists are dispensing every where as Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. And it is to very, very different than different than common cough medicines. No Opium, no Chloroform, absolutely nothing harsh or unsafe The tender leaves of a harmless lung healing mountainous shrub, gives the curatives properties to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. Those leaves have the power to calm the most distressing Cough and to soothe and heal the most sensitive bronchial membrane. Mothers should, for safety's sake alone, always demand Dr. Shoop's. It can with perfect freedom be given to even the youngest babes. Test it yourself! and see. Sold by Red Cross Drug Store,

A Dead Dog

While workmen were repairing the front veranda at the home of Col. B. L Hardin, last Saturday there was found the mummy of a dog which was perfect in every detail except that he was just "dried up." It is something of a mystery how the dog got to his last resting place, as the foundation of the veranda is continuous with no place for him to have crept in and has been there for seventy-five or eighty years. Maybe the dog crawled in there when the veranda was building, and went to sleep, and the workmen having walled him up and nailed down the floor, the pup just slept on into eternity.—Harrodsburg Herald.

Survived Lockjaw

Master Herman Buckman, 8 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Buckman, of Louisville, who was run down by a wagon, Oct 11, and received injuries which necessitated the amputation of his right leg, above the knee, five days later, is recovering from lockjaw which developed October 31, twenty days after the accident occurred.

The little fellow was carried to Norton Infirmary, Louisville, where the amputation was performed and where he has since remained. Up to the first of this week, his case was considered very critical, the physicians holding out very little hope for his recovery. The Anti-toxine treatment was applied persistently and the doctors say this saved his life. the first case of lockjaw cured in the history of the Norton Infirmary. —Lebanon Enterprise.

Sam Bullock Dead.

Mr. Samuel Bullock died at the home of his sister, Mrs. Rebecca Osborn, near Loretto, Saturday, the 7th, instant, of consumption, and was buried at the Catholic cemetery at Chicago, after funeral services at the Chicago church Sam Bullock, as he was familiarly called and known, was long a resident of Lebanon where he was popular and well liked. For a number of years he was employed at the hotel bar, of the Guthrie House, at the railroad station, when conducted by Messrs. Kelly & Ballard In 1886 he was nominated by the Democrats of Marion county for Jailor and, of course. was easily elected. He served his term as Jailor, but being a single man did not stand for re-election. He was very popular throughout the county and a kinder and warmer hearted man than Sam Bullock would be very difficult to find

Mr. Bullock was never married Two sisters, Mrs. Rebecca Osborn and Mrs. Jane Osborn survive him, beside several half sisters who reside in Kansas Mr W T. Bullock of this city, is a half brother of the deceased.—Lebanon Leader.

North Bend

Since the new school law has partially gone into effect, the people are wont to discuss, as well as, "cuss," its various divisions and sub divisions. That the old law was deficient, no one who was acquainted with its workings will deny, neither will any person contend that the new law is perfect, for indeed, it is defective, especially, where it relates to the qualification of trustees. But the new law, with its weak points considered, is far superior to the old one which had almost "perished with its usage,"

There is much talk in some sections of Kentucky, of asking the Court of Appeals to pass upon the Constitutionality of the new law and thereby have it repealed, which may be done, but reader bear in mind one thing, you will never see Kentucky under the "three trustee system" again. We are living in the 20th Century and Kentuckians are determined to keep pace with the citizens of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

Kentucky was admitted into the Union 1792, Ohio in 1802, Indiana in 1816 and Illinois in 1818 Thus you see, all things considered, Kentucky should have led her sister states in science, in art, and in literature, but call the roll if you please and next to the foot of the class, Kentucky answers "here," (in a low tone.)

But with the public conscience awakened, with educators surpassed by few, excelled by none, Kentucky can behold the light from her eastern hill-top, and dawn of a better era will be ushered in, and we will never go back to the 'flesh pots of Egypt' but onward and upward to higher heights and deeper depths, until Kentucky citizenship can stand shoulder to shoulder with its brother of the north, east or west and can bid adieu to old environments, which have kept her bound in chains—but the cords have been loosened, the power to tax has been given, it will be used; it must not be abused; and Kentucky will soon take her place in the front rank of the nation.

Harvey W. Watterson Falls to His Death.

Harvey W. Watterson, a son of Henry Watterson, editor of the Courier-Journal, fell from a window in his law office in the United States Trust Company Building on the nineteenth floor to a roof below, fully 110 feet, crushing almost every bone in his body. It is supposed that in closeing his window preparatory to leaving for home about five o'clock in the evening, he must have stumbled, possibly over a radiator in the floor near the window, and plunged forward through the open window to his death Young Watterson was in his 30 h year and was a brilliant and most promising young lawyer Mr. Watterson was married in 1904 to Miss Alice Burrows, of New York, who survives him. There are no children. His eminent and aged father is benumbed with grief at his home in Louisville. The hearts of all true Kentuckians go out to him in this, his greatest sorrow.

Does Not Stimulate

Ayer's Sarsaparilla does not stimulate. It does not make you feel better one day, then as bad as ever the next. It is not a strong drink. No reaction after you stop using it. There is not a drop of alcohol in it. You have the steady, even gain that comes from a strong tonic and alterative. We wish you would ask your doctor about this. He knows. Trust him. Do as he says. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Burley Tobacco Society Fixes Prices on the 1907 Crop and Names Date When Sales Will Commence.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee, November 11th, it was decided to price the different grades of the 1907 tobacco not later than November 17th, and that this tobacco be put on sale November 24th.

In view of this action, it is very important that all types be sent in at once, that every one's tobacco may participate in the opening sales Large orders are on file which are expected to consume the balance of the 1906 crop and a large part of the 1907 crop. All purchasers must take one hogshead of the old crop with every four hogsheads they buy of the 1907 crop.

Folly of Gun Toting

Tennessee's terrible tragedy points one moral for the whole South that may well be heeded It is the folly of carrying firearms. Had not the Coopers, father and son, and Senator Carmack been "heeled" with revolvers, an exchange of verbal compliments, or at worst a fight with fists would probably have settled the controversy.

But the fatal gun, was there ready to hand. Who pulled first; who provoked the opening shot is not known and may never be known. A man of national reputation, a brilliant orator and an able statesman lies dead because of this foolish and criminal habit so prevalent in this section of the country.

The citizen who follows this practice sets out by breaking the law. He puts himself in the wrong the moment he slips the loaded weapon in his hip pocket. He violates the principle of mutual confidence upon which society is based. He is a trouble seeker, and sooner or later he meets it in his path. Then follows death, bereavement and a grieved and a shocked community.—E. Town News.

Suicide at New Hope

Tuesday morning our people were dreadfully shocked to learn that Mr. John Woods, the nightwatchman at the Belle of Nelson Distillery had shot himself and died two hours later. He had been on duty last night and returned to his home near Henry Cissel's for his Flobert riflie and accompanied by his little son he went to a pond and there killed three ducks. When returning home just about half way up the hill near Tyler Richards he placed the rifle back of his right ear and pulled the trigger after which he walked to his home where died about two hours after he had fired the fatal shot. About six weeks ago he made an unsuccessful attempt to end his life by taking strychnine. He was about 40 years of age and had been an employee of the Combine for several years. He was a son of the late Wm. Wood and was reared on the hill between here and Howardstown.—New Haven Echo.

Thanksgiving Proclamation

Gov. Wilson Tuesday issued his Thanksgiving proclamation fixing November 26 as a day for thanks throughout the Commonwealth. It is as follows;

By the custom of our fathers and in concord with the Thanksgiving proclamation of the President of the United States of America, and in the name of the Commonwealth of Kentucky and all of its people, and for each and every soul in this Commonwealth, the Governor of Kentucky sets the day of prayer and thanksgiving to God on Thursday, November 26, 1908.

No one is so poor nor wretched that he hath not something to thank God for, and no one is so blessed that he doth not need to bow in prayer, and our people in their homes should pray earnestly for relief from woes and wrongs, as they should return earnest thanks for the many blessings granted unto us by Providence.

As partners in the heritage, power and hopes of our whole country, we have great blessings and honors to be thankful for, and as those upon whom God hath showered great bounty of climate, soil, wealth beneath the ground, of noble deeds and great names, of great sacrifices and great gifts, we ought to return fervent thanks, and we ought to give covenant to the Lord to cherish and obey His laws and to keep with each other the covenants of our own laws and customs, to build up this Commonwealth and the business of all its people, to make every family in this Commonwealth rich in the spirit of the Old Kentucky Home, generous, free and unafraid; to welcome its full workers to our State and to win and keep and hold the faithful love, confidence and service of all who are with us now.

Now, therefore, I, Augustus E. Willson, Governor of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, have set apart and do hereby fix Thursday, the 26th day of this November as a day of general thanksgiving and prayer, and ask that in so far as in us lies all shall cease from toil and business and in our homes and places of worship truly thank our God for our great blessings and pray His gracious providence and pledge to Him to keep our covenants with our God and each other, of faithful service, of human kindness, earnest work and patient endurance of the tasks of life, that we may deserve a continuation of blessings in the future.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the Commonwealth of Kentucky to be affixed.

Done at Frankfort this 10th day of November, in the year of our Lord 1908 and in the 117th year of the Commonwealth.

AUGUSTUS E. WILLSON,
Governor of Kentucky.

High Price

November 6 at 1:30 o'clock the first sale at the Danville Loose Leaf Tobacco Warehouse took place. The tobacco sold brought an average price of $21.08 per hundred which is the largest price Boyle county tobacco has brought in many years.

The sellers were extremely delighted with the enormous prices received. Several sales have been made privately in Boyle county recently at an average of about 15 cents per pound. The same tobacco in Danville today would have quickly brought 21 cents as buyers were plentiful and bidding was spirited. Portions of a crop of 2,250 pounds belonging to Robinson and Franklin sold as high as 24 cents per pound. This tobacco was raised on Mr. Jake Robinson's farm on the Stanford pike. —Danville Advocate.

We are authorized to announce B. L. Litsey as a candidate for re-election to the office of Washington county subject to the action of the Democratic party. Primary November 28, 1908. Election Nov. 1909

Last Friday in San Francisco during the trial pending in the prosecution of "Abe" Reuf, the arch boodler and grafter of that city, Morris Haas, a juryman whom Francis J. Heney, the prosecuting lawyer, had disqualified as juror by exposing the fact of Haas' having been a convict, shot and severely wounded Heney The ball penetrated the skull just below the temple, lodging in the lower jaw. Haas gave as his reason for the attempted assassination that his life was ruined by the exposure by Heney of Haas having been a convict in San Quentin prison. Haas was arrested and placed in jail.

As a sequel to his attempt to assassinate Heney, Haas committed suicide by shooting himself through the head in jail on Saturday night. A pistol which he had concealed in the top of his shoe when taken to jail, was the weapon which wrote "Finis" to the career of a man who believed in the old law of the Medes and Persians, "An eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth."

The killing of Ex-Senator Carmack of Tennessee, by Cooper, and the attempted assassination of Francis J. Heney, of San Francisco, by a saloon-keeper, ex-convict and corruptionist, reminds the people that the man who has the courage to prosecute sin and corruption in high places and expose the leaders, is too often a target for the assassin's weapon. The unwritten law is man's law, not God's law, and where one man sacrifices his life for honesty and purity, others will be found ready and willing to prosecute the fight.

Prathers Creek.

As no letter has been seen in the News-Leader from this place for some time I will take courage to send a few items this week

As the drouth has been broken and Mr. Taft is elected we may expect good times in the future.

Several farmers have taken advantage of the cold spell and killed some of their hogs.

It seems that our Tick creek correspondent is off on a visit as we haven't seen anything of him for some time

A protracted meeting is in progress at Bethel church, conducted by Rev Brewer of Bohontown, and Rev. Armster of Willisburg. Large crowds are attending the services.

Just as we are about to send this letter we hear of the death of Mr. Howard Purdom, near Deep Creek church This is the second son in the Purdom family to die of typhoid fever, within a month. There are still two cases in the family and your correspondent joins their many friends in extending sympathy.

Your correspondent had the pleasure of attending the church reunion over at the old Deep Creek Baptist church last Saturday. This reunion was called Menhess reunion This church was built in the year 1796 making it 112 years since organized. Many people in this section remember Father David Bruner, who was a pastor at this church years ago, and at one time had the largest membership of any church in the Southern District. At present they have a membership numbering nearly 300 and in the year 1905 lost 22 of its members by death, mostly old people among them being mother. The cemetery at this place has been enlarged several times and is at present in need of enlargement. The present pastor of the church is Rev. E. W. Summers of Georgetown.

And it is to very, very different than different than common cough medicines. No Opium, no Chloroform, absolutely nothing harsh or unsafe The tender leaves of a harmless, lung healing mountainous shrub, gives the curatives properties to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. Those leaves have the power to calm the most distressing Cough and to soothe and heal the most sensitive bronchial membrane. Mothers should, for safety's sake alone, always demand Dr. Shoop's. It can with perfect freedom be given to even the youngest babes. Test it yourself! and see. Sold by Red Cross Drug Store,

Perfectly Resigned.

"Will you have a little stimulant?" inquired the doctor.

The old Scotchman smacked his lips in eager anticipation.

"Ou, aye, I'll tak' a drink o' any thin' you have handy," was the quiet rejoinder.

"Ah, that's the trouble!" exclaimed the oculist. "You'll have to stop drinking or you'll lose your eyesight."

The old chap pondered a moment.

The Best Inheritance.

Property left to a child may soon be lost, but the inheritance of virtue—a good name, an unblemished reputation—will abide forever. If those who are toiling for wealth to leave their children would but take half the pains to secure for them virtuous habits how much more serviceable would they be! The largest property may be wrested from a child, but virtue will stand by him to the last.

A Lesson In English.

A Philadelphia capitalist went to Chicago and was very much disgusted with the Chicago accent.

"You speak," he said to a Chicagoan, "a wretched patter, don't you? But we Philadelphians, I've been assured, speak a very pure English indeed—in fact, a pure Oxford English. Ah, how do you account for the difference?"

"Well," said the Chicagoan, "the only way I can account for it is that you Philadelphians entertained the British army a good long time in your town while we Chicagoans never had any such—er—honor."

Last Saturday evening shortly after dark as Anthony Grundy was driving home he was run into by Chas. Moore's stage in front of Mr. T. Scott Maye's residence, where Anthony is employed. The collision demolished a wheel of Mr. Mayes' phæton and otherwise injured it. No one was hurt altho "Parson" had a narrow escape from being seriously injured.

The supper given by the L O T. M at Willisburg was a success in every particular. An immense crowd was in attendance, and $34 was turned into the treasury of the Hive.

The lovely American beauty roses were won by Miss Sue Eggington, of the Pleasant Grove neighborhood, a very popular Lady Maccabee.

Miss Annie Reynolds, a highly esteemed woman of the Fredericktown neighborhood, died at her home last Friday of pneumonia in the sixty-fifth year of her age. The funeral services were held at Fredericktown on Saturday morning, the funeral being conducted at the Catholic Church.

Union Thanksgiving service will be held in the Presbyterian church at 10 a.m., Thanksgiving day. Rev. Mr. King of the Methodist church will preach the sermon. The business houses are requested to close and observe the true spirit of the holiday by attending this service.

A Baptist Young Peoples Union was organized at the Baptist church on last Sunday night. Messrs. Hume and Matherly, who represented the Mackville Union, rendered valuable assistance in perfecting the organization. There were thirty-three enrolled as members and Mr. Henry Royalty was elected president. The purpose of the Union is to train young people in christian work.

The local tobacco breaks will open next Saturday, Nov. 21, if enough tobacco is brought in by that time to begin selling. Mr Sydnor, the manager, says that enough tobacco has been promised to begin by that time if it can be gotten into shape. The dry weather has been a very serious handicap, however, to the farmers in handling their tobacco.

At a meeting of the Democratic County Committee held last Saturday the following men were declared the nominees for the respective offices for which they had announced subject to the Democratic primary to be held Nov. 28:

County Judge, B. L. Litsey,
" Attorney, T. S. Mayes,
" Clerk, W. F. Booker,
Circuit Clerk, R. A Noe,
School Commissioner, J. W. Bush
Coroner, Dr. W. E Crume,
Surveyor, Wm Roberts,
Legislature, T. D Graham.

No one had announced as candidates for these offices in opposition to those who were declared the nominees, hence the action of the committee. The only offices to vote for are Sheriff, Jailer and Assessor, in each of which there are two candidates.

The Springfield lovers of the great game of foot ball were treated to a spirited contest on last Saturday afternoon when the High School team of this place defeated the second team from St. Mary's College by a score of 11 to 2. The St. Mary's team has probably had more practice and experience than the home team, yet the latter played the faster game and by playing straight old fashioned foot ball throughout, succeeded in winning. St. Mary's only score was a fluke. The High School scored in the first half on an end run by Ben E. Simms and in the second on another end run by John Handy. It failed to kick the first goal but succeeded in making the second. The stars of the game were Ben E. Simms, John Handy and Morrisson O'Nan.

A letter has been received here from Lieut. W. O. Reed who is now stationed in the Philippines Islands in which he tells of quite an honor that has been conferred upon him. By an order of the Governor of the Islands of date September 21, 1908, Lieut. Reed was made President of the Municipality of Jolo, his commission effective from the date of appointment. This municipality contains the ancient walled town of Jolo and other of the large cities of the Island. This section is unlike other portions of the Philippine islands and has never been under civil government, the officers of the army filling the various offices. It is composed of the most cosmopolitan citizenship conceivable, the peoples of both the old and the new world finding a home there. This is not the first honor conferred upon Lieut. Reed but is the highest received thus far.

The following announcement which appeared in the Louisville papers of last Sunday will be of interest to many of the people of this county. Mr. Wycoff prior to about six years ago lived at Mackville and is known to many of the people of the county. Since leaving he has made his home at Carlisle where he has been very successful in the practice of law: "Carlisle, Ky., Nov. 14—Invitations have been sent out to the wedding of Miss Ellen Botts and the Hon. George F. Wycoff, which will take place at the Christian church, Owingsville, Wednesday, November 25. Miss Botts is the daughter of former Sheriff Seth Botts, of Owingsville, and is one of most popular young ladies of that section of the State. She is a granddaughter of Mrs. Ellen Judy, of this city. Mr. Wycoff is a brilliant young attorney of this city and one of the most gifted young orators of the State. He is the Presidential Elector from the Ninth Congressional district, having been elected on the Democratic ticket on November 3

Circuit Court.

Circuit Court adjourned last Saturday after having been in session three weeks. The most important suit disposed of last week was that of J. Rich Smith etc., vs the Cumberland Telephone Co., the verdict being $500 for the plaintiffs. It is said that the Telephone Company will appeal the case.

This is the second trial of this case, it having been reversed once before, because of excessive damages having been awarded in the lower court,

Nad Hardin was tried last week on the charge of housebreaking and given three months in jail.

Ben Lancaster and Jim McKenna, two young negroes, who were also charged with housebreaking were sent to the School of Reform

Hunters Delight

Monday ushered in the open season of bird hunting, for which old and young Nimrods had been preparing for a month in advance. Expectation and imagination ran rife for days in the mind of every boy big enough to tote a gun as to what he would do to the birds after the 15th. Monday was the red letter day writ in the blood of many a little Bob White brought home as a trophy of skill with a gun.

County Teacher's Association

The semi-annual meeting of the Washington County Teachers' Association will be held at Springfield, Friday, November 27. A splendid program has been arranged, consisting of speeches, addresses, etc, by the teachers and others on educational subjects.

There will be rendered an excellent program of music—solos, quartette, piano, mandolin, violin, etc.

Mrs. Herbert W. Mengel, secretary of the National Educational Association of Women's Clubs will deliver an address on School Improvement League Work.

This meeting will not be for teachers only, but for all citizens interested in education. If you are not interested come and let us interest you in this great work. The trustees have made this, Friday after Thanksgiving, a "free" day to all teachers of the county who attend.

There can be no good reason for the absence of a white teacher of the county, save illness. Let us have every teacher in the county present on this occasion. We hope to have every trustee of the county present.

J. W. Bush.

MRS. JOHN W. KELLY.

Would Have Done the Same.

Rev. George B. Macdonald, a Wesleyan clergyman, was Kipling's maternal grandfather. It is related of this bright Macdonald that in the days when he was courting the lady whom he afterward married the father-in-law to be—an aged Methodist, with extremely strict notions in regard to the proprieties—was injudicious enough on one occasion to enter the parlor without giving any warning of his approach. The consequence was that he found the sweethearts occupying a single chair.

Deeply shocked by this spectacle the old man solemnly said: "Mr. Macdonald, when I was courting Mrs. Brown she sat on one side of the room and I on the other."

Macdonald's reply was: "That's what I should have done if I had been courting Mrs. Brown."

The Retort Worthy.

Major Throckmorton, an innkeeper of Louisville in ante bellum days, was one of the most interesting characters that ever helped to make life worth living or history worth reading. He ejected Charles Dickens, the great English novelist, from his hotel, and he made at least one retort worthy to be handed down from generation to generation.

"Get this man's horse," said the major to his hostler (the man had insulted one of the major's guests)—"that little Arkansas pony."

"I'll let you know," shouted the man, "that I am not from Arkansas, and my horse is no Arkansas pony, either!"

Wanted a Sure Thing.

A poor man once asked Pierpont Morgan to purchase a foreign lottery ticket from him. Generously enough, the millionaire bought the ticket at double its face value. The share eventually won a big prize. Mr. Morgan sent for the man and offered to settle on him $1,000 a year for life. The man did not show any pleasure at this magnificent offer. "I would rather have $3,000 down," was the astonishing reply. "Why?" asked Mr. Morgan. "You are good for fifteen years of life at least." "That may be," answered the man, "but if luck is on your side, as usual, Mr. Morgan, I sha'n't live twelve months!"

The Last Resort.

A celebrated physician having asked a young man who was studying medicine under him at his examination what means he would use to promote perspiration in a particular disease, the student exhausted all the resources of his memory and imagination, and still the pertinacious old physician continued to bore him with, "Well, sir, and if that failed, then what would you do?"

The lad, driven to his wits' end, at last exclaimed, "Then, sir, I would send him to you to be examined, and, if that did not make him sweat, it is my opinion his case would be hopeless."

Make It Yourself

Says Many Persons Here Can Be Made Happy Again by Using It.

There is so much rheumatism here in our neighborhood now that the following advice will be highly appreciated by those who suffer:

Get from any good pharmacy one-half ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion, one ounce Compound Kargon, three ounces of compound Syrup Sarsaparilla. Shake these well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime; also drink plenty of good water.

It is claimed that there are few victims of this dread and torturous disease who will fail to find ready relief in this simple home-made mixture, and in most cases a permanent cure is the result.

This simple recipe is said to strengthen and cleanse the eliminative tissues of the Kidneys so that they can filter and strain from the blood and system the poisons, acids and waste matter, which cause not only Rheumatism, but numerous other diseases. Every man or woman here who feels that their kidneys are not healthy and active, or who suffers from any urinary trouble whatever, should not hesitate to make up this mixture, as it is certain to do much good, and may save you from much misery and suffering after while.

Our home druggists say they will either supply the ingredients or mix the prescription ready to take if our readers ask them.

You can cure dyspepsia, indigestion sour or weak stomach, or in fact any form of stomach trouble if you will take Kodol occasionally—just at the times when you need it. Kodol does not have to be taken all the time. Ordinarily you only take Kodol now and then, because it completely digests all the food you eat and after a few days or a week or so, the stomach can digest the food without the aid of Kodol. Try it today, we know what it will do for you. Sold by Red Cross drug store.

An Unlucky Number

In the trial of a misdemeanor case in the Circuit Court this week the jury of twelve men was properly impanelled and sat in the case. Another juryman of the regular panel sat along side of the regular jury and thinking he was also trying the case went to the jury room with the regular panel. Not until the thirteen were in the jury room was the mistake discovered and of course the extra man was invited out. It was quite a funny thing and never occured here before. The extra juror was perfectly innocent in the matter and there was no way for the Court or the officers to detect the "thirteener" until he went with the regular panel to the jury room. As the minimum fine was imposed against Harry McDermott for selling liquor to a minor, he evidently is satisfied that there is nothing in the old saying "that thirteen is an unlucky number."—E Town News.

It is logical that pouring drugs into the stomach will not cure catarrh in the head. Hyomei, medicated air reaches the seat of the disease and cures. Guaranteed by Red Cross Drug Store.

"Hats Off"

Pittsburg, Penn.—Rev. Dr. E. Trumbill Lee, Pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Wilkinsburg, a fashionable Pittsburg suburb, yesterday morning requested that all the ladies of his congregation remove their hats before he proceeded with services.

There was much grumbling and scores declined to make a move toward removing their their hats, until the minisiter said.

"The request, of course, does not apply to the elderly ladies, but I wish all the younger women to remove their hats."

Inside one minute every femal in the church had her hat on her lap. None would chance being classed among the "elderly ladies."

Mrs. Mary Dowling of No 228 8th Ave., San Francisco, recommends a remedy for stomach trouble. She says: "Gratitude for the wonderful effect of Electric Bitters in a case of acute indigestion, prompts this testimonial. I am fully convinced that for stomach and liver troubles Electric Bitters is the best remedy on the market to-day." This great tonic and alterative medicine invigorates the system, purifies the blood and is especially helpful in all forms of female weakness. 50c. at Haydon & Robertson's drug store.

Saving Uncle Henry.

By Avard Ridgeway.

Copyrighted, 1908, by Associated Literary Press.

Colton caught up the desk telephone that stood at his elbow and smiled as he recognized his wife's voice. One of the arguments in favor of the removal to the suburbs had been that the reduction in rent was vastly greater than Colton's commutation and Mrs. Colton's occasional trips to town. They had not counted on the telephone bill, which more than made up the difference.

"That's only part," came the answer "The cook left, and the Nelsons have just had word that his sister is dead, and they can't come."

"That will help some," declared Colton encouragingly. "There won't be so many to cook for."

"But Eleanor will have to get the dinner," wailed Mrs. Colton. "That takes the three Nelsons and you and her away from the table. Don't you see that it leaves just thirteen?"

"Thirteen's lucky," cheered Colton. "You should be glad that Eleanor is there to get the dinner."

"But Uncle Henry is frightfully superstitious," reminded Mrs. Colton. "It's bad enough that you can't come and that my own sister must stay away to get the dinner, and we'll have to tell him that she is out of town, but when we ask him to sit at a table with twelve others—Bob, you must send out some one. Can't that nice looking bookkeeper come?"

"On his vacation—but I'll get some one. Don't worry, Vida."

Colton hung the receiver on the hook, and Mrs. Colton beamed as she turned from the instrument. Bob was dependable, and that worry was off her mind.

It was the first dinner party in the new home, and her uncle was to be the guest of honor. It had seemed hoodooed from the start. First Colton had been compelled to remain in town to attend an important conference of the trade and could not possibly get out.

Her sister, Eleanor Norris, had been called into service to replace the cook, who had left, declaring that she would see her employer and the guests separately and individually condemned before she would cook for eighteen persons, and then at the last moment the Nelsons had sent regrets, cutting the number at table down to the thirteen abhorrent to Uncle Henry, from whom the Coltons had "expectations."

Vida had noticed that her husband's bookkeeper was an extremely good looking young fellow, and she had telephoned Colton to send him out. Probably he would send out the bookkeeper's relief, and Vida gave no more thought to the matter save to offer up a fervent supplication that his table manners should be good.

The others had arrived when there was a ring at the bell, and in her anxiety Mrs. Colton herself rushed to the door. A tall, clean cut young man stood at the entrance, and at his inquiring "Mrs. Colton?" Vida fairly dragged him across the hall and into the dining room, where she carefully closed the door.

"I'm awfully sorry," she began. "Mr. Colton asked you to come out because we wanted to avoid thirteen at the table. But it happens that a Mr. Grimsby could not come either, and so now you would make the thirteenth."

"I see," he said, with a light laugh. "Then I'll head back for town."

"I couldn't let you do that," cried Vida, with a gasp. "There is no train until 9:37. You will not get to town until almost 11. You must stay here and have some dinner. I'm sure you won't mind eating in the laundry."

"I'd rather like it," was the genial response. "If you will indicate the general direction I'll head that way and let you get back to your guests."

Vida pointed to the door to the butler's pantry. "Go through there and tell them who you are," she directed; then she hurried back to the waiting diners. Her uncle was standing by the door.

"Was that another guest?" he demanded uneasily.

"Just a helper that Bob sent out from town," she explained glibly, and Uncle Henry breathed a sigh of relief.

"I'm rather glad that Bob was detained in town," he said. "It will prevent there being thirteen at the table. I'm not superstitious, but I know of two cases where there were thirteen at the table, and each time one died before the year was out. I'm getting to be an old man, Vida, and, while I'm not superstitious about it—well, it's just as well not to tempt fate."

Vida smiled her understanding of the case, and as Norah appeared in the doorway to announce that dinner was served they all filed out.

Vida sustained a shock of surprise when she saw the man her husband had sent out standing ready to serve, but his face was as impassive as though he had been a butler and not a bookkeeper all his life, and it was with a little flutter of pride that Vida realized that the local guests would suppose that they had imported a butler from town for the occasion.

The dinner passed off splendidly. The butler acquitted himself with the greatest credit, and Eleanor did her cooking school training full justice.

Before the coffee was served Uncle Henry was whispering to his niece that he was going to make her a present of the house for Christmas and attend himself to some details of decoration.

Vida had hoped to lead him to the subject of new rugs, and this voluntary promise delighted her. As she led the way back to the parlor she fairly radiated delight.

It was some time before she could manage to slip away from her uncle and she was just about to go to the kitchen to see how Eleanor was getting along when Norah, the maid, poked her head cautiously between the curtains and made a signal that she wanted to see her mistress.

"I think you'd better come out in the kitchen, ma'am," she whispered. "That strange man and Miss Eleanor do be carrying on something awful. He kissed her when he thought my back was turned, but I saw them in the silver tray. They've been at it ever since he came."

"He is annoying Miss Eleanor?" asked Vida correctingly. It was out of the question that Eleanor should enjoy his attentions.

With dignified tread Mrs. Colton moved toward the kitchen and threw open the door. Her sister was wiping a huge platter, and the bookkeeper had taken advantage of her plight to steal another kiss. As Vida appeared in the doorway the platter went crashing to the floor.

"I'll buy you a whole set, Vida," cried Eleanor penitently.

"The loss of the china is immaterial," was the austere reply. "What does this—er—flirtation mean?"

"It means that I've found my little girl again, Mrs. Colton, and this time I've captured her before she could run away, as she did from Newport."

"It's Dick Hempstead," enlightened Eleanor. "Bob sent him out instead of the new bookkeeper, and I just had to say 'Yes' to atone for the cavalier fashion in which you hustled him into the kitchen."

"But he didn't tell me"— began Vida

"You didn't give me a chance, or perhaps I gave you none. Bob told me that Eleanor was to be the cook, and I was only too glad to come. I have not seen Bob since he was married, and I did not know that he had married Eleanor's sister, or you would have seen me out here before."

"And you want to get married!" exclaimed Mrs. Colton. "What will Uncle Henry say?"

"He'll say 'Yes,'" declared Hempstead, "or at any rate he should. Didn't I save him from the thirteen hoodoo?"

"I suppose that will help some," admitted Vida. "Anyway, I'm glad you two are to be married, for with Eleanor to cook and you to be butler I shan't be afraid of any more dinner parties, only when there are but thirteen at the table."

"To save the day as well as Uncle Henry" completed Hempstead.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

HUMOR OF THE HOUR

On Their Wedding Journey.

"Alfred, dear, isn't the scenery beautiful?"

"Lovely beyond description."

"But you're not looking at it."

"I am looking at the only scenery that has any attractions for me, Penelope."

"What is the use of talking like that, Alfred? You know I'm not beautiful."

"Don't you dare to contradict your husband! I say you are the most gloriously beautiful creature on the planet."

"Nonsense! Look out through the car window, Alfred. You are missing some wonderful scenery."

"I'm not missing anything worth seeing. I'd rather look into your eyes and hear your voice than"—

"Oh, Alfred, you're an utterly hopeless case!"

"I know it, Penelope. I'm in the incurable ward of the seventh heaven."

"'Sh! Not so loud, dear. Somebody will hear us!"*

*Somebody did.—Chicago Tribune.

Venial.

A New Yorker visiting Paris for the first time became much interested in the little boys in white caps and aprons who deliver the wares of the pastry cooks.

"Ah," said the New Yorker one day to one of the youngsters, who had brought him some cakes, "I suppose you get the benefit of one of these cakes yourself sometimes?"

"Pardon, sir, but what do you mean?"

"You eat a cake now and then, eh?"

"Eat them, sir! Oh, no, sir! That wouldn't do. I only lick them as I come along."—Harper's Weekly.

"Perkins looks very happy this year."

"He has reason to be. He says that after his wife and children had been fitted out with their fall wardrobes there was enough left over to enable him to have a new velvet collar put on his overcoat."—New York Life.

Hamburg Rice.

Wash cupful of rice, put it in a kettle and add an onion cut fine, a teaspoonful salt, a pound hamburg steak and five or six cups boiling water; season to taste. Let it cook slowly and uncovered, as it burns if covered. It takes about an hour and a half to cook. When the water has almost cooked away, cover and set on back of range where it will keep hot and finish cooking by its own steam.

Scott's Emulsion

of Cod Liver Oil is the means of life and enjoyment of life to thousands: men, women and children.

When appetite fails, it restores it. When food is a burden, it lifts the burden.

When work is hard and duty is heavy, it makes life bright.

It is the thin edge of the wedge; the thick end is food. But what is the use of food when you hate it and can't digest it?

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil is the food that makes you forget your stomach.

A Queer Kind of Savage.

When Albert Henry Savage Landor reached St. Petersburg on his way from the forbidden land, the fact was duly chronicled, and the London press associations sent cable messages to Australia telling of the hairbreadth escapes and manifold sufferings. The Melbourne Times received but a short note, which was this:

This was meager enough, but the news editor was equal to the occasion. The following morning, among the other matters of news, the readers of the Times found this startling information:

"A savage landor got into St. Petersburg yesterday, and the people of the city were terrified. After considerable difficulty the beast, which came from Tibet, was captured, taken to a remote place and there dispatched. It is said that this is the first animal of the sort ever seen in Russia. How he reached the city after his fights with the natives of Tibet, which is a comparatively unknown country, is a mystery."

Caustic Repartee.

Douglas Jerrold's genius for repartee is perhaps best shown in his most famous reply to Albert Smith, whom he disliked and frequently abused. Smith grew tired of being made the butt of the other's wit and one day plaintively remarked, "After all, Jerrold, we row in the same boat." "Yes," came the answer, "but not with the same skulls."

Changed.

A street boy of diminutive stature was trying to sell some very young kittens to passersby. One day he accosted the late Rev. Phillips Brooks, asking him to purchase and recommending them as good Episcopal kittens. Dr. Brooks laughingly refused, thinking them too small to be taken from their mother. A few days later a Presbyterian minister who had witnessed this episode was asked by the same boy to buy the same kittens. This time the lad announced that they were faithful Presbyterians.

"Didn't you tell Dr. Brooks last week that they were Episcopal kittens?" the minister asked sternly.

"Yessir," replied the boy quickly, "but they's had their eyes opened since then, sir."

A Pertinent Query.

Effie, the little daughter of a clergyman, pranced into her father's study one evening while the reverend gentleman was preparing a lengthy sermon for the following Sunday. She looked curiously at the manuscript for a moment and then turned to her father.

"Papa," she began seriously, "does God tell you what to write?"

"Certainly, dearie," replied the clergyman.

"Then why do you scratch so much of it out?" asked Effie.—Harper's Weekly.

Her Disposition.

At the time of the Cherry creek flood, which played havoc with the then struggling village of Denver, upon the outskirts of the settlement lived in a cabin an old character known as Beaver Bill and his wife. The freshet carried away everything, save Bill himself, upon the premises, including his spouse. The loss of her seemed to impress Beaver Bill less than the loss of other things, but a volunteer party worked valiantly to find her for him.

At last, wet and weary, they must lain report to him failure.

"Where'd ye search?" he demanded.

"All the way downstream for two miles, Bill," they asserted.

"Oh, rats," he drawled disgusted. "You want to do your searchin' upstream. She's too confounded contrary ever to float down."—Bohemian.

Hard to Tell.

"Dear me! Are you a tramp?"

"I don't know, lady. Some places says I am an' puts me in de lockup, but other places says I am a champion pedestrian an' gives me bouquets an' things."—New York World.

Mrs. Graham's hobby is house decoration. One day she was careless enough to drink a glass of red ink, believing it to be claret. She was a good deal scared when she discovered her mistake, but no harm came to her. The doctor who was summoned, upon hearing what had happened, dryly remarked, "Mrs. Graham, there's such a thing as pushing this rage for decorated interiors too far."

Couldn't Chill His Wit.

Mme. Modjeska and her company were playing one winter in the extreme north, much to the discomfort of Count Bozenta, the Polish star's husband But at that time the show business was at a very low ebb in the south. One particularly cold day Mme. Modjeska found the count shivering from head to foot in spite of the steam heat in the hotel.

"Oh, my dear, my dear!" he implored. "Let us go south for the rest of the season. This climate will kill us."

"But, my dear," replied madame, "the south is dead."

"Yes," said the count, "but she is such a be-autiful corpse."

Who Were Going.

"And the streets are paved with real gold and there will be music and flowers, and everything will be beautiful!" finished the Sunday school teacher, who was telling her small charges of heaven.

"And now tell me," she continued, "what kind of little boys and girls are going there?"

Nobody knew. Then from one corner a small brown hand shot up. "Yes, Samuel?" the teacher smiled.

"Please, teacher, dead ones!"—Lippincott's.

DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPSIN CURES INDIGESTION

Eat What

You want of the food you need Kodol will digest it.

You need a sufficient amount of good wholesome food and more than this you need to fully digest it.

Else you can't gain strength, nor can you strengthen your stomach if it is weak.

You must eat in order to live and maintain strength.

You must not diet, because the body requires that you eat a sufficient amount of food regularly.

But this food must be digested, and it must be digested thoroughly.

When the stomach can't do it, you must take something that will help the stomach.

The proper way to do is to eat what you want, and let Kodol digest the food.

Nothing else can do this. When the stomach is weak it needs help; you must help it by giving it rest, and Kodol will do that.

Our Guarantee

Go to your druggist today, and purchase a dollar bottle, and if you can honestly say, that you did not receive any benefits from it, after using the entire bottle, the druggist will refund your money to you without question or delay.

We will pay the druggist the price of the bottle purchased by you.

This offer applies to the large bottle only and to but one in a family.

We could not afford to make such an offer, unless we positively knew what Kodol will do for you.

It would bankrupt us.

The dollar bottle contains 2½ times as much as the fifty cent bottle.

Vinol Restored This Man's Strength

"Several years ago I was attacked by a severe case of grippe, which left me with a hacking cough, soreness in my chest, and bronchitis. I took nearly every kind of cough syrup sold on the market, besides medicine given me by physicians.

I received no permanent relief until my druggist asked me to try Vinol, and after taking three bottles I was entirely cured.

I believe Vinol to be the greatest blessing ever offered to the public, as it does what is claimed for it." R. E. R. Hicks, Maplesville, Ala.

The reason Vinol cures chronic coughs, colds and pulmonary troubles is because it contains tonic iron and all the healing and body building elements of cod liver oil but no oil.

Vinol is also unexcelled as a strength builder for old people, delicate children, weak and run-down persons, and after sickness.
